Notes:

1. Outstanding options include all issued stock options and warrants as of the indicated date, except for moving strike warrants. To align with U.S. capital markets reporting standards, moving strike warrants are only included after exercise to more accurately reflect potential shareholder dilution. Furthermore, to remain consistent with the reporting standards of At-The-Market (ATM) equity facilities, 0% discount warrants issued to purchase Bitcoin will be reflected in the fully diluted share count only after exercise, when proceeds have been delivered to the Company. We believe this methodology provides the most accurate and fair measurement of dilution for 0% moving strike warrants, as it aligns with how dilution is measured using ATM facilities in the United States.
2. Fully diluted shares outstanding comprises (i) the total number of common shares outstanding, (ii) potential shares from assumed conversion of outstanding convertible notes, (iii) potential shares from exercise of outstanding stock options, and (iv) shares from moving strike warrants only after exercise, in each case as of the indicated date.
3. Bitcoin per Fully Diluted Shares Outstanding is calculated by dividing Total Bitcoin Holdings by the Fully Diluted Shares Outstanding at the end of each period. The result is then multiplied by 1,000 to express the number of Bitcoin per 1,000 Fully Diluted Shares Outstanding.

3. Capital Markets Activity

On January 28, 2025, Metaplanet's Board of Directors approved the issuance of the 13th to 17th Series of Stock Acquisition Rights to EVO FUND via third-party allotment. This issuance consists of five tranches, each comprising 4.2 million shares, for a total of 21 million shares. The exercise price for each tranche is set at 100% of the previous day's closing price (0% discount), with an adjustable exercise price mechanism and suspension provisions designed to align with market conditions.

On February 10, 2025, Metaplanet's Board of Directors approved the issuance of the 6th Series of Ordinary Bonds to EVO FUND through a third-party allotment, raising 4 billion yen. These zero-coupon bonds, with a scheduled maturity date of August 12, 2025, will be redeemed through proceeds generated from the exercise of the 13th to 17th Series of Stock Acquisition Rights. The funds raised will be allocated toward the Company's Bitcoin accumulation strategy, in line with the objectives outlined in the January 28, 2025, disclosure regarding the 13th to 17th Series of Stock Acquisition Rights.

On February 13, 2025, Metaplanet confirmed receipt of the 4 billion yen raised through the issuance of the 6th Series of Ordinary Bonds to EVO FUND. In connection with this, the Company revised the allocation of funds previously announced in the January 28, 2025 disclosure to accelerate Bitcoin purchases.

5. Important Information About BTC Yield

BTC Yield is a key performance indicator (KPI) that reflects the percentage change in the ratio of Total Bitcoin Holdings to Fully Diluted Shares Outstanding over a given period. The Company uses BTC Yield to assess the performance of its Bitcoin acquisition strategy, which is intended to be accretive to shareholders.

From July 1, 2024 to September 30, 2024, the Company's BTC Yield was 41.7%. From October 1, 2024 to December 31, 2024, the Company's BTC Yield was 309.8%. From January 1, 2025 to February 17, 2025, the Company achieved a BTC Yield of 15.3%.

Fully Diluted Shares Outstanding includes all currently issued common shares at the end of each period, along with any additional shares that could be issued through stock options, stock acquisition rights, or the conversion of any future convertible instruments, such as convertible notes. To remain consistent with the reporting standards of At-The-Market (ATM) equity facilities, moving strike warrants issued to purchase Bitcoin will be reflected in the fully diluted share count only after exercise, when proceeds have been delivered to the Company. This methodology ensures the most accurate and fair measurement of dilution for moving strike warrants, aligning with how dilution is measured in ATM facilities in the United States.

BTC Yield does not account for vesting conditions or exercise prices of stock options, except for moving strike warrants. The Company uses BTC Yield as a KPI to assess its strategy of acquiring Bitcoin in a manner it believes to be accretive to shareholders. This metric helps investors evaluate the impact of issuing additional shares or convertible instruments to fund Bitcoin acquisitions.

Management acknowledges the limitations of BTC Yield, including its exclusion of debt and other liabilities that take priority over common shares. It also assumes that all debt will be refinanced or, in the case of future convertible debt, converted into common shares under its terms.

This KPI is not a measure of operational performance, financial performance, or liquidity. BTC Yield does not represent traditional yield or return on investment for shareholders, nor does it reflect income from operations, returns on Bitcoin holdings, or any other financial performance metric. Additionally, the market price of our common shares is influenced by factors beyond our Bitcoin holdings and share count, meaning BTC Yield does not predict or determine our stock price.

BTC Yield is specifically designed to evaluate whether the use of equity capital to acquire Bitcoin benefits shareholders in terms of Bitcoin accumulation. It does not consider the source of funds used for Bitcoin purchases. For example, we have acquired Bitcoin through various financing activities, including the rights issue disclosed on August 6, 2024. This means BTC Yield may overstate or understate the impact of equity capital on Bitcoin acquisitions since not all Bitcoin purchases are funded through equity issuances, and not all equity issuances result in Bitcoin acquisitions. Future issuance of convertible notes or other debt instruments could impact BTC Yield without reflecting the associated debt obligations.

The Company has not historically paid dividends on its common shares, and the presentation of this KPI does not imply any future intention to do so. Holding our common shares does not equate to direct ownership of the Bitcoin we hold. Investors should rely on the Company's financial statements and disclosures filed with the Tokyo Stock Exchange. BTC Yield is intended as a supplemental metric for those who understand its purpose and limitations, not as a replacement for traditional financial analysis.
